FOREWARD FROM THE CEO

QS Quacquarelli Symonds, headquartered in the United Kingdom and founded in 1990, is a world leader in university rankings. QS is recognised as the most trusted and independent source of intelligence in the global higher education sector. Since the inception of the QS World University Rankings in 2004, QS has also produced regional rankings for Asia, Arab region, Latin America, BRICS as well as Eastern Europe.

Over the years, QS has been organising some of the world's largest events in higher education alongside an extensive range of products and services that include print, online publications as well as software solutions. India holds a special place on the list of important regions covered by QS. India is set to become the largest individual contributor to global demographic transition with an employed population, in the age range of 20-64.

QS has been working closely with the Central Government of India and various other state governments in the past few years. The Ministry of Education has acknowledged the role and importance of QS in shaping the quality of higher education in India. The ministry has released a notification in its official gazette stating, "Any institution that features in the Top 500 in the QS World University Rankings is eligible to be classified as a Category 1 institution".

Given this background, QS has formed the QS I-GAUGE rating framework specific to the Indian higher education system. The prominent people involved in the foundation of QS I-GAUGE include the likes of Late Dr Arun Nigavekar, who is dubbed the "father of quality movement of higher education in India"; Prof Samir Kumar Brahmachari, Former Director General, Council of Scientific & Industrial Research (CSIR) of India; Prof KRS Murthy, Former Director of Indian Institute of Management (IIM), Bangalore and many other luminaries. Following a study that spanned over a year, QS I-GAUGE was launched on the 21st of March 2018 by the Hon'ble Former President of India, Late Shri Pranab Mukherjee, in the benign presence of Dr Virander S Chauhan, Chairman, NAAC.

QS I-GAUGE is specifically designed for India and provides Indian higher education institutions insights specific to their strengths and weaknesses, which encourages and empowers them to take appropriate measures towards betterment. The legacy and credibility of QS, combined with the customised features that QS I-GAUGE brings to the table, is the need of the hour in the Indian higher education system. This augurs very well for the country as more and more institutions will implement corrective actions towards improvement needed to be recognised as world-class institutions. As a result, the overall quality of Indian higher education would improve in the long run.

We hope that this guide would be useful to you!

QS I-GAUGE Rated institutions felicitated at India Academic Forum held in Bengaluru.

MESSAGE FROM THE COO

India is on the path to claiming its rightful place as the "Vishwaguru" and is moving towards becoming a desired destination for students from across the globe. Although this is not an easy feat to achieve, we, as an ecosystem, have given ourselves the opportunity to do so.

The recent AISHE survey suggests that India has 1,113 Universities, over 43,000 colleges, and over 15 lakh teachers. The Union Government is spending more than one lakh crore rupees per year on education and has set up accreditation bodies, grants commissions, ranking body, and working to the best of possibilities to improve the standards and quality of education in the country.

Keeping this prospect of growth and innumerable possibilities to positively affect the Indian education industry, QS I-GAUGE was formulated to support building world-class institutions through quality and excellence. With a holistic methodology of assessment, we are India's first, nationwide, independent rating system that is committed to empowering Indian institutions and being a trusted partner to ambitious learners.

It gives me immense pleasure to let you know that QS I-GAUGE has rated over 150 higher education institutions through this journey and has been able to make an impact in the higher education sector by changing the outlook of leaders in education by inducing the thought that quality evaluation is an introspection which can help institutions discover new possibilities in their journey towards academic supremacy.

Having completed five years of service to Indian colleges and universities, we look forward to expanding our horizons in playing a larger role and truly supporting institutions as their quality partner.

QS I-GAUGE rated institutions felicitated at the India Academic Forum organised in Bengaluru

24-25 November 2022: QS I-GAUGE hosted The India Academic Forum; a transformational leaders' conclave as a platform to showcase their capabilities and discuss and deliberate on topics that help the Indian education system achieve global standards. The event witnessed over 100 academic leaders from higher education institutions and schools from across the country.

Dr Kiran Bedi, Former DGP and Former Lt Gov Puducherry was invited as the keynote speaker at The QS I-GAUGE India Academic Forum and had the audience mesmerised with her talk. Her speech included words from the scriptures as well as her own anecdotes. She called herself a "student for life" and said what an important part education plays in moulding the nation and its future. She also mentioned that it was a "great and rare honour" to "address a very prestigious and learned gathering". Dr Bedi went on to say that "the purpose of education is to drive a humanity which is humane, humanity which prevents war, humanity which prevents poverty". She concluded with a quote from Sri Aurobindo, "an ideal theme of education is to bring forth the inner, hidden latent, dormant, potential secret with every human being. Its aim is not to promote competition but harmonious learning".

This thought leadership initiative was curated to give the industry an exclusive opportunity to voice their opinions and concerns, but more importantly, celebrate and felicitate 30 QS I-GAUGE-rated universities, colleges and schools across India.

QS I-GAUGE is a brand incorporated in India as an independent private-sector initiative specialised in rating colleges, universities and schools. It brings together the global expertise, experience, and reputation of UK-based QS Quacquarelli Symonds, along with deep local knowledge of luminaries from Indian education. The Hallmark of the QS I-GAUGE rating methodology is that it is evidence-driven, transparent, and holistic.

QS I-GAUGE college & university rating is based on seven primary criteria and six secondary criteria ranging from Teaching and Learning, Employability, and Social Responsibility to Research, Internationalisation and Governance & Structure. QS I-GAUGE School rating consists of six core criteria and five specialised criteria ranging from Internationalisation, Skill Development and E-Learning to Arts & Culture and Sports Activities.

Dr Chetan Singai, Chief Consultant, Technical Secretariat, National Curriculum Framework 2022, Ministry of Education, GOI was among the chief speakers; in his address to academic leaders on transformative pedagogy, he gave insights from the National Education Policy (NEP) and the National Curriculum Framework.

Dr Singai also chaired the roundtable discussion on the "Key takeaways of transformative pedagogy discussed in NEP" with the participants from reputed institutions like Presidency University, NIET Greater Noida, SRM University - AP, and World University of Design, to name a few. The other roundtable topics were "Internationalisation - Opportunities and Challenges" for higher education academics on 24 November 2022.

On 25 November 2022, the school principals and management from popular schools like Harvest International School, SSVM Institutions, NPS Jayanagar, Rainbow International School, Silver Oaks International School and many more participated in discussions on "HEI and School Collaboration" and "Future of education-learning beyond textbooks, content and curriculum".

Reputed institutions like UPES, Alliance University, Shoolini University, and O P Jindal Global University made presentations on "Unconventional Courses and Career Choices", deliberating on how students today have a greater pool to choose from to build a career. Also, Vellore Institute of Technology (VIT) presented a case study on "Achieving Research Impact", which was very well received by the audience.

The India Academic Forum became a platform for the launch of the Digital Maturity Framework (DMF), developed by QS in collaboration with AWS and Intel. The main purpose of designing this framework is to enable the institutions to understand their level of digital maturity which will be evaluated based on varied parameters related to digitisation. An institution will be provided with a road map towards digital improvement at the end of this audit. This increases the potential for innovative universities to deliver personalised and adaptive learning based on past data on student performance. In a consumer-led fee-paying industry, institutions that are 'digitally mature' will quickly establish leadership in reputation for teaching and teaching commitment enabling rapid growth in student numbers. Digitally mature universities will be highly attractive to international partners. This can be relevant for transnational education, joint degrees and other forms of collaboration. This framework acts as a roadmap for the institutions to transform themselves into digitally optimised institutions.

On the same occasion, Dr Ashwin Fernandes, CEO of QS I-GAUGE said, "Quality and excellence are of great significance in imparting education, as it enhances the capacities and capabilities of the learners, who will bridge the gap between the underdeveloped and the developed nations. This is not possible without the involvement of every stakeholder. QS I-GAUGE is actively involved in providing global expertise to Indian institutions in this journey".

At the event, QS I-GAUGE also announced the "Institution of Happiness 2023" (IOH) a QS I-GAUGE initiative to help institutions understand the level of happiness in the students and faculty and how to better their quality of life. Among various parameters in measuring wellbeing, happiness is considered as a prime factor, and educational institutions play a significant role in developing the right attitude, perspective, and emotional stability among the individuals on campus. Last year QS I-GAUGE took the initiative to understand the well-being of students across the country where more than 100 institutions participated out of which 33 institutions qualified for maintaining a healthy pulse of happiness among their students.

Handbook to Promote SDG at Educational Institutions Released Virtually

Bengaluru: The first-ever Sustainable Development Goals (SDG) Handbook to provide a step-by-step approach for Higher Education Institutions (HEIs), was released as part of a virtual event by the PACT2030 initiative by its secretariat QS I-GAUGE in Bangalore on the 8th of July 2022.

The SDG Handbook was developed based on the insightful discussions and exchange of ideas between some of the top HEIs during the PACT2030 inaugural conclave held at Goa in March 2022. The Handbook is customised to work as a ready reckoner to Indian HEIs towards the planning and implementation of the UN's Sustainable Development Goals in their campuses and society at large. It unravels the current global scenario on what is happening on the SDG front, the facts and figures from India on each of the 17 SDGs and lists out recommendations to Indian HEIs to scale up their involvement.

Present at the launch was Shri Vijay K Nambiar, Former Special Advisor to UN Secretary-General and Former Chief of Staff of the United Nations, who presided over the event as the Chief Guest and, while launching the SDG Handbook for Indian Higher Education said, "In India, there is a critical need to accelerate the contributions and leadership of academic institutions for realising the SDGs. This necessitates the platform for academic involvement from local to national and thereon to the international level; PACT2030 is such a forum." He also added that he hoped that this initiative would contribute to putting India on the world map of education and SDGs overall.

Shri Sarbjit Singh Sahota, Disaster Risk Reduction Specialist at UNICEF India, delivered a keynote address at the event and said that "There is a need for collective action, but the sense of urgency required for climate action is missing. Organisation and institutional support, something like PACT2030 inspire solution providers, and larger communities to participate in solving the challenges continuously as universities have excellent opportunities to remain continuously engaged in problem-solving".

The event also witnessed a panel discussion on the role of Academic Leadership and Capacity Building in Accelerating SDGs, which was a riveting intellectual engagement and fruitful exchange of thoughts. Dr Geeta Thakur from Manav Rachna University moderated the panel and Dr Lakshmi Priya from Uttaranchal University; Dr Krishnendu Sarkar from NSHM Knowledge Campus; Dr Deepak Nallaswamy from Saveetha University and Dr Supriya Patil from Savitri Bhai Phule Pune University were the panel members.

Students of Jagdish Sheth School of Management presented their SDG Initiative called "Kanyathon - an Experiential Program for Social Impact". Mr Sanjay Padode, President of Vijaybhoomi University presented a Case study on the SDG progress after the PACT2030 Conclave held in Goa in March 2022.

Dr Ashwin Fernandes as convenor of the PACT2030 initiative and on behalf of the secretariat QS I-GAUGE welcomed the gathering and said, "The success of our collective journey to 2030 will greatly depend on how effectively institutions, who are in the driving seat of implementation of this transformative national agenda by engaging their faculty, staff, students, and stakeholders in implementation efforts and thereby bridging the gap between existing practices and SDGs". He further, added, "This Handbook provides a comprehensive overview and light assessment of the institutional response to the SDGs in the country, at the national level. It is desirable to further deepen this assessment and repeat it regularly, partnering with other actors".

India's Happiest and Institutions of Academic Rigour Announced

New Delhi: QS I-GAUGE, the Indian subsidiary of UK-based QS Quacquarelli Symonds, announced India's happiest educational institutions at a Conclave in New Delhi, awarding over 33 universities, colleges, and schools from Pan India, after a rigorous assessment exercise which began in December last year in association with industry body ASSOCHAM. These institutions were titled as "Institutions of Happiness (IOH)".

Present at the event in New Delhi's India Habitat Centre, was Union Minister for Women and Child Development, Honourable Smt Smriti Zubin Irani, who presided over the event and awarded the certificates. On the occasion, she said that "It is important that educators gain insights into the level of happiness of students and their well-being, which will enable institutions to advance their outcomes holistically". The 'Institution of Happiness' status was bestowed after a rigorous exercise that covered over 100 institutions, but only 33 of them were able to qualify the set thresholds.

QS I-GAUGE was launched in 2018 by the Former President of India, Late Shri Pranab Mukherjee, and was set up as an international, independent, private-sector initiative specialised in rating colleges, universities, and schools. The system was designed after the highly recognised QS STARS University Rating System, and further adapted to capture the reality of the dynamic Indian higher education sector, while at the same time maintaining the strict quality standards that are synonymous with the QS brand.

At the same event, the independent rating outcomes of over 22 Indian universities, colleges, and schools were also announced, after completing the assessment in over 100 indicators spread across various categories ranging from teaching & learning, faculty quality, employability, social responsibility, and internationalisation to research, entrepreneurship, innovation, sports, and arts & culture.

For many of the institutions that received both their Institution of Happiness and QS I-GAUGE Rating, it was a double bonanza to be recognised both as the happiest institutions as well as institutions of excellence in various categories.

QS I-GAUGE RATING & INDICATORS

QS I-GAUGE RATING

QS I-GAUGE rating was launched in the year 2018 by the former Hon'ble President Late Shri Pranab Mukherjee. After successfully implementing the methodology with over 100 institutions till date, it was time to revisit our approach to stay relevant in a dynamic market and to be a 'trusted advisor' to our student community, which is the prime focus of all initiatives by QS. Although our methodology is the product of years of research, we continue to refine our approach in consultation with institutions and higher education experts, by conducting extensive literature reviews, data analysis, studies on new and changing dimensions in education itself. Taking this further, we are delighted to launch Methodology that reflects the innovative approach in its framework.

Our methodology is transparent in the evaluation methods and process not just for institutions, but also for prospective students and other stakeholders. The student community will benefit from the validation methods as it offers insights on the performance of institutions across various criteria. Most importantly, the rating exercise conducts a holistic and rigorous internal evaluation of institutions, thereby demonstrating the willingness of institutions to embrace quality initiatives for continuous improvement. In effect, an institution's overall score reflects its performance in the rating indicators assessed on self-reported data and ad hoc polls used in computations.
